AP Exams

Students interested in AP Exams can use the AP Course Ledger to find a host school near them.

If you are interested in taking an AP Exam this year, then it is best to start contacting host schools ASAP. Per the College Board,

The deadline for schools to submit AP Exam orders is mid-November. If you're unable to find a school by then, you can keep looking. At their discretion, a school could add you to their order after the November deadline, and they could request that the late order fee be waived in that circumstance. But because schools can set their own deadlines and policies related to ordering and fees, start looking for a school as early as possible.
